

Tutor Instructions for Online Students:

Tutoring for "online" students is available for tutoring for math and writing.

From Dragon Zone, students can get into Library Services and click on the "math" or "writing tutoring" link--or in Learning Zone , they can go to "Help and Resources," click the math or writing resource option on the left, and enroll in the course.

It will thereafter show up on their course list.

In these courses, students have access to resources and may post a question on our public forums. To ask questions privately, they may email us at tutors@hutchcc.edu.

We try to respond within an hour during Rimmer's open hours. We ask that students include their name, instructor's name, and assignment description, due date, page numbers if applicable, and their specific question (since we don't proofread or give answers).

This information is available on Rimmer's hutchcc.edu page.
