

Metallurgy - MC113

Section: MC113 003232S Newton

Section Type: Lecture

Credit Hours: 1.00

Course Description: Behavior and service of metals in industry. Characteristics during heating, cooling, shaping, forming, and the stress related to their mechanical properties. Theory behind allows, heat treatment processes, and wear resistance.

Course Notes: Simultaneous enrollment in MC116 is encouraged.

Section Notes: Simultaneous enrollment in MC116 is encouraged. Newton HS Only. Rosters with exact times managed by instructor.

WHEN

Days: MTWRF

Times: Arranged

Start Date: 01/24/2024

End Date: 05/23/2024

WHERE

Campus: Newton

Building: Newton Brooks Trade Center

Room: NWB105

INSTRUCTOR

CLAYTON BAUGHMAN

BOOKS

No textbooks for this course.